

ANGLO-CATHOLIC HISTORY SOCIETY

Newsletter—December 2013

JANUARY LECTURE

This will be held on Monday January 27th at 7pm at St Clement Danes. The lecture is entitled “The place of Archbishop Richard Neile (1562-1640) in Anglican history” and will be given by Dr Andrew Foster. Neile held six bishoprics during his career and was Archbishop of York from 1632 until his death. He was patron to many members of the “Arminian” group which included William Laud and John Cosin, a determined opponent of the puritans and Laud’s right hand man during Laud’s time as Archbishop of Canterbury during the Personal Rule of Charles 1st. He was, therefore, a significant figure in the resurgent “High Church” movement of the 1620s and 30s.

Our speaker, Dr Andrew Foster, taught for many years at the University of Chichester and is currently Hon. Senior Research Fellow at the University of Kent. He is editing the correspondence and papers of Archbishop Richard Neile for the Church of England Record Society.

ADVANCE NOTICE OF THE AGM AND AUTUMN LECTURE

The lecture to be given following the AGM on June 9th, will be on Fr Dolling, the famous Portsmouth slum priest. The speaker will be Canon Terry Loudon.

Next year marks the centenary of the outbreak of the First World War. The autumn lecture is, appropriately, entitled “Anglo-Catholics and the First World War”. The speaker will be one of our members, the Reverend Dr Robert Beaken and the lecture will take place on Monday October 6th.

The Committee sends best wishes for Christmas and the New Year to all members.
